

Stop heart attack and stroke before they stop you.

Think heart attack and stroke only happen to other people? Think again.

About 81 million people in the U.S. suffer from some form of cardiovascular disease, causing nearly 2,300 deaths each day. The next victim could be a friend, a neighbor, a relative, or possibly you. But you can stop these "silent killers" before they become life-threatening by getting a screening from the HeartReach Mobile Lab.

HeartReach is a unique traveling heart disease and stroke prevention program. It's staffed by professionals from Iowa Health – Des Moines and it's coming to your area soon. Call today to make your appointment, and stop worrying if heart attack and stroke are sneaking up on you.
